Marines in Hue City is a gripping account of the 26-day battle for Hue City during the Tet Offensive of 1968. The book tells the story of the Marines who fought to defend the city from the North Vietnamese Army and the Viet Cong, and the civilians who were caught in the crossfire.

The battle for Hue City was one of the most intense and bloody battles of the Vietnam War. The Marines fought house-to-house and street-to-street to clear the city of enemy forces. The fighting was often hand-to-hand, and the Marines suffered heavy casualties.

In addition to the fighting, the Marines also had to deal with the human cost of war. They saw civilians killed and wounded, and they had to deal with the grief and anger of those who had lost loved ones.

Marines in Hue City is a powerful and moving account of one of the most important battles of the Vietnam War. The book is a must-read for anyone interested in the war, military history, or the history of Hue City.
